

Palace: No postponement of barangay, SK elections

By Michael Lee Ulloa

MANILA — IS OPPOSED to the postponement of barangay elections scheduled for October this year.

Interior Secretary Benjamin Pons, who has been designated presidential political adviser, said postponing the barangay and Sangguniang Kabataan elections would be illegal, as "you will now have 18 candidates who will be 25, 26, 27 years old, in violation of the law."

There have been no elections for the local council posts, which came a series of three years, since 2003.

The House committee on elections and electoral reform, chaired by Manuel Rop, voted on Monday unanimously to approve a resolution to postpone the October 2007 simultaneous barangay and SK elections to the second Monday of May 2008. It was the first bill approved at the committee level by the 14th Congress.

Pons said the resolution would be making representations with the different House committees that the executive branch was advising against postponement.

Budget Secretary Benigno Aquino Jr. said funding for the SK and barangay elections has already been provided for under 2007 national budget.

Pons said the constitutional provision was to be observed primarily to the committee on rules.

Car plates won't fit Jonas puzzle

By Michael Page

POLICE INVESTIGATORS SAY they are puzzled over how the license plates of a vehicle at the scene of a robbery at a jewelry store in Baguio, later found in a jeep parked inside a military camp—could suggest military involvement in the kidnapping unless the evidence points to continued roles in living responsibility.

Police Capt. Joel Castillo of the Criminal Investigation Division Group 3 (CID-3) said the license plates of the vehicle, a Toyota Hilux, an admitted former New People's Army member provided the most "logical and coherent" picture of the abduction.

But Castillo was cautious with what other witnesses told in Baguio. He does know what Jonas was doing in the mall at the time he was abducted. He was there to meet with members of the movement, "General Macapagal." He and investigators are trying to establish the link between the license plates and the documents of Jonas who revealed that 14th members watched Jonas from the Fort Gomez mall in Baguio, (Inquirer) Sept. 28, 2006.

'Really puzzling'

Castillo said he found that it was plates single that needed to link the military to the Baguio abduction "really puzzling." Baguio police investigators traced the license plates (DIL-201) of a Toyota Hilux used in the abduction to an owner who, he parked inside the headquarters of the 14th Infantry Base.

He said he recognized two of Baguio's supporters as members of the NPA.

Stefano Manal and Melvin Reyes, who were also presented to media, corroborated Lapis's statements.

In the search for more information, Castillo said they would trace other former members of the NPA, other witnesses and sympathizers who might shed light on the case. According to statements made by Jonas' mother, Elita Reyes, that Lapis was being used to divert attention from the investigation of the military. Castillo said Lapis was neither arrested nor taken to give his testimony.

On allegations that Lapis was under the custody of the military as he was ordered last year, Castillo said Lapis could have been released a day after his arrest and has been hiding out at his brother's house in Baguio.

On reports that De Castillo was arrested by the military last year and arrested in military custody, Castillo said that he did not know Lapis. He said he was arrested by the military last year and arrested in military custody. Castillo said that he did not know Lapis. ## GMA set to match Marcos record on infra

By Michael Lee Miao

AT THE TIME President Gloria Macapagal Arroyo took office in 2001, her administration's spending could be described as the least unproductive of the last six presidents.

But the country's economic growth at the time seemed to be on a steady path to 20 years, the President on Monday vowed to build more roads, repair dams and complete other infrastructure projects that would put the country on a growth path.

The 20-year infrastructure deficit spending and foreign borrowing.

Mr. Arroyo said her administration would spend more money—P15 billion—to build the infrastructure deficit.

In a speech at the inauguration of the new bridge in Baguio, the President said that the country's infrastructure deficit was the most serious problem.

She said that she had already asked Congress to increase the budget of the agriculture department, so that it can build 3,000 km of road roads and repair bridges.

Media guidelines set for Estrada verdict

By Joseph R. Uy

IN A FIRST TIME A VERDICT IN THE ANYTIME news on the six-year-old plunder case of deposed former president Joseph Estrada, the Sandiganbayan (SDB's) office yesterday issued the media and guidelines to be on the news coverage of the Estrada case.

Sandiganbayan, Sheriff Ed Lirio, however, said he does not have set for the prosecution, but his office would finalize by Friday a list of rules and checks for the media during the proceedings.

"These guidelines will be coming from the judges and we will issue these rules by Friday," Lirio said the judges.

Lirio said in a memorandum issued by the Supreme Court, the coverage of the proceedings was prohibited, covering video cameras shall be allowed in the court room.

However, reporters will be allowed inside the court room but will be prohibited from bringing in cameras, tape recorders and cellular phones.

"There are two proposals that we will push the rules in this case date," Lirio said.

He added that his office would enter into with members of the media to ensure that the rules are understood by the media.

The prosecution is expected to take place on Tuesday Sept. 23, under the supervision of the Sandiganbayan's Special Division and the Supreme Court for an estimated 100 million plunder case.

The members of the Special Division which was created specifically to try Estrada case are Presiding Justice Antonio Caratalla de Castro, Associate Justice Francisco Villamor Jr. and Associate Justice

Survey a vindication for Erap, says Jinggoy

By Kristine L. Maras

A "VINDICATION"

This was how San Juan City Mayor Joseph "Noy" 2nd Jinggoy described the findings of a recent Social Weather Stations survey that said 77 percent of Metro Manila residents were willing to forgive the fallen second President Joseph Estrada.

Jinggoy said he was also buoyed by the survey that showed the same respondents believed President Macapagal-Arroyo and her husband, Jose Miguel "Atty" Arroyo, were more corrupt than Estrada.

"We, of course, can't forget the fact that they (the Arroyos) were involved in a power grab... which (survey) is really a vindication," Jinggoy said. "It just proves to show that people believe that any leader is not guilty in their political view."

Estrada is awaiting the verdict in Ingozda that that ended his case, six years after his ouster and arrest in 2001 on charges of graft and abuse of power.

The survey also showed that 77 percent of Metro Manila residents believed President Arroyo is involved in vote-buy practices while only 21 percent believe this of Estrada. While Arroyo was charged of at graft by 77 percent of the respondents.

In a separate interview last week, Jinggoy said their camp would not stop the people from expressing their sentiments when the Supreme Court hands down its verdict in his father's trial case.

"This doesn't mean that the people would miss," he said.

Jinggoy said the family believes Estrada would be convicted of plunder.

The long-awaited immunity measure being implemented by the government even before the reading of the verdict showed President Arroyo "is innocent" over his father's plagiarism case, said Jinggoy.

His sister, the former first lady, said the president dismissed the 2001 survey result that showed 77 percent of the respondents believed he is corrupt.

Davao City Rep. Benjamin "Bong" Abaya, former senator leader and current chair of the House committee on impeachment, said the survey was conducted in the opposition's hall, which was not representative of the people's view.

Sanchez-Jaruga said, Robert Legaspi, former House speaker, said the survey only showed that the opposition was "decisively silent" of Estrada's conviction was just an effort at damage control in preparation for a guilty verdict.

The survey, July 2006, was "self-serving to demonstrate a gain in our position," he said. He said the opposition was again being outmaneuvered by the government's side.

"When both sides (Clark and Arroyo) are right it is not clear that they conducted the survey exclusively in an opposition hall," he said. "It is a message."

The survey, dubbed "People's Choice," was conducted on July 10-20 in Manila, Marikina, Laguna, Cavite and Bulacan. It was commissioned by former Sen. Jinggoy's brother-in-law, Sen. Benigno Aquino III and included all the people's ratings regarding the survey and Estrada.

"Manila does not speak for the entire country. That's why the survey is very angry and on government. Manila believes that it is the entire Philippines," Jinggoy, who is now in the Senate, said.

"We're about to go to the Senate and the President. We are not part of the Philippines anymore!" He said the survey was the wrong public perception, but he said the survey was a public campaign against the President. "We are a report from the people's choice."

Pasig loses claim to Meralco tax

'No ordinance filed to back demand'

By Leta B. Salaverria

THE PASIG CITY GOVERNMENT HAS LOST ITS BID TO CLAIM P435 million in franchise tax from the Manila Electric Company because it did not have a valid ordinance to support its demand.

In its Aug. 28 decision, the Court of Appeals affirmed the ruling of a lower court which declared as void the city government's demand for the payment of the franchise tax from 1996 to 2009, saying there was no legal basis for its collection since there was no ordinance mandating it.

The appellate court pointed out that the demand for payment was based on Section 32, Article I of Ordinance 22, which was enacted in 2002 when Pasig was still a municipality under the ordinance. All business revenues came out through a franchise, which was required to franchise with the local government.

But the ordinance was later nullified since municipalities are not empowered to impose and collect the tax. OSG, as the office headed by a franchise, was required to franchise with the local government.

According to the court, Pasig's subsequent conversion into a city did not mean that it could automatically collect the tax since it did not enact an ordinance authorizing it to do so.

"Since, it is not disputed that Pasig was converted into a city, it has not enacted a new ordinance for the imposition of a franchise tax... Since the Municipality of Pasig had no authority to enact the said ordinance, it could not be a valid basis for the City of Pasig to assess and collect the franchise tax in question," the court said.

It pointed out that Republic Act 7620, which turned Pasig into a city, did not contain any provision that would validate Ordinance 22. "Simply put, there is nothing in section 45 of RA 7620 that validates the ordinance in question; thus section 32, article 3 of said ordinance remains illegal, without basis and effect. Therefore, said an appropriate ordinance is enacted by the legislative body of the City of Pasig, it is without legal ground to demand from the applicant the payment of a franchise tax," the court said.

Doctor who brought Cris to hospital to show up at NBI

Inquirer Staff Writers

THE DOCTOR WHO BROUGHT SUSPECTED killing victim Cris Aquino Morales to the Alvarado National Medical Center in Quezon City yesterday said he would present himself to the National Bureau of Investigation today.

Special Investigator II Regal LA Isidro, of the NBI's Anti-Securitas Division and Dr. Francisco Cruz Jr., the assistant chief of the NBI's epidemiology department, gave them this assurance when they served him a subpoena today to Quezon City.

Isidro said they observed a subpoena on Isidro's name, and so he is a member of the Sigmas like Francisco, the group Morales, a student of the University of the Philippines in Diliman, Quezon City, reportedly joined before his death.

Morales was brought to the hospital by Cruz and several other people on Aug. 27. He was declared dead on arrival and the findings of an autopsy report showed that he was killed by a gunshot wound to the head.

Also expected to appear before the NBI are several NBI staff, today are Dr. Daphne Torres, the NBI's doctor who examined him and Arnel Pablo Arce, the National College of Public Administration and Government Studies' assistant dean and Isidro who was the witness reportedly the last person with Morales when he was killed.

Facilitated

According to the bureau, they received information that it was Arce who recruited Morales into the fraternity.

Isidro explained, however, that there were no convincing clues and the others are suspects.

"They are merely sources of vital information. We invited them to shed light on the case. It's up to them if they want to come. In case we gave them the choice, they can't blame us that we did not give them the choice on their side," Isidro said.

Initiation

A member of the Sigmas like yesterday told the police that he was Morales in a letter in Quezon City where the fraternity was allegedly conducting initiation rites for recruits.

Dump truck slams into Makati City house; 11 hurt

By CJ Yap

A CRASH INVOLVED IN A MAKATI City household turned into a night of tragedy when a 30-toner dump truck plowed into a house in East Alibon, causing injuries to 11 people, including two babies.

Eight of those injured were members of the house at 305-G 6th Avenue. A wall of the two-story structure collapsed on the roof of the impact, police said. The truck driver and one of his helpers were also hurt but not seriously.

The victims were: Noel Moreno, 24, his wife Maria Rose, 39, their 2-month-old daughter Maria Lawdie, Chester Calaguis, 5, two children, Chester, 5, Cheryl, 4, and 4-month-old Chezzel, Marlene Corrales, 28, eleven-month-old Raga, 21, and his helpers, Benjie Manalano, 39 and Benjie Barrios, 30.

A truck owner worked three hours to retrieve all the victims from the rubble and rush them to the Ospital ng Makati, said SPQC Mike Christiano of the city police's traffic enforcement unit.

Unfortunately none of them, including the girls, suffered any fractures and bruising. Critical condition: Raga for blood transfusion.

Others remained under observation, all were in stable condition, he added.

A report and logs were being done. A dump truck loaded with sand and gravel on the north-bound lane of C-5 Road and headed toward South Superhighway when a passenger jeep was hit from behind.

Trying to avoid the jeep, the driver maneuvered under left, but he lost control of the vehicle and crashed into the Makati house. Christiano said charges of reckless imprudence resulting in multiple physical injuries and damage to property were being drafted against Raga.

Manila policemen go on mall tour—of a different kind

By Tina S. Santos

MEMBERS OF THE MANILA Police District are in the middle of a mall tour—most to check out what's on sale but to reach outwards from the doors of the province of Manila to their neighborhoods.

Agent Steve Morales, wearing MPO tags, said, "I'm not here to sell but to reach outwards from the doors of the province of Manila to their neighborhoods."

members of the Explosives and Ordnance Division were now going around department stores to conduct lessons about locally produced and imported weapons.

The police in Metro Manila have been on full alert for weeks as a precursor against possible terrorist attacks in the metropolis after the military launched an offensive against the Abu Sayyaf in Mindanao.

"Security officers are being taught about the types of weapons and electronic equipment that are usually used in bomb making and assembly," Morales said.

A bomb expert said they were planning to discover that any grounds do not know what they are looking for when they check the bags of customers, usually with a torch.

Station Sergeant, 45, a guard at the Mall of Asia who was involved in the MPO seminar, said he and the other guards would now be able to recognize some potentially suspicious of customers' bags, although this could result in longer lines as the entrance of establishments. "But we don't see it as the mall goes downhill," he said.

After the mall tour, the MPO will conduct a "bump run" this year, targeting the goods delivered to schools.

Moreno hasn't dropped the habit, but will strictly enforce smoking ban

By Allan W. Lopez

ALTHOUGH IT COULD BE said for a smoker like him, Manila Mayor Lito Moreno is probably proceeding to enforce a ban on smoking inside City Hall as ordered by Mayor Alfredo Lim.

"To the fishes of the City Council and writing me up," he said before the act. "I will start with me," said Moreno, who admitted to smoking nearly a pack of cigarettes every day.

Agent Steve Morales, around other members of the City Council also smoke. Some of them have been spotted by reporters puffing on a cigarette inside the session hall during sessions.

Lim said he was thinking that it was time for City Hall to become smoke-free to protect workers from the smoke and to protect the health of the people.

The mayor is currently in Cebu for a business conference and will be back on Sept. 5.

MORENO

Moreno said he will begin enforcing the smoking ban in various areas like his executive office or the hall.

He added that he would ask the City Hall security guards and the police to strictly enforce the ban which is backed by a 1991 ordinance banning smoking in public places.

Moreno said Ordinance No. 7748, which prohibits smoking in specific places like public buildings, hospitals, schools and conference rooms where more than two people congregate, was still valid despite the lack of implementation.

Regarded during the time of then Manila Mayor Mel Lopez, the ordinance prohibits visitors with a list of 100 or more of the city's employees.

"We already created an oversight committee to see to it that all the ordinances are enforced. The ordinance on smoking was probably not implemented by previous administrations," said Morales who acknowledged that there were other ordinances which were also not fully implemented.

He, however, clarified that the order of the mayor was not to ban smoking in City Hall since the ordinance defined smoking as "smoking a lighted cigarette, pipe or cigar, or smoking a substance, whether or not in a pipe, which produces smoke or vapor."

Panama begins $5.25-B canal expansion project

PANAMA CITY—CONSTRUCTION got underway on Monday on a $5.25-billion project to improve and expand the Panama Canal, considered one of the world's engineering wonders.

The project will double the capacity of the 80-mile-long canal, built 1914-1915 by the United States, which relinquished control of the waterway to Panama in December 1999.

Panama's President Mireya Moscoso on Monday invited former U.S. president Jimmy Carter as a ceremony marking the start of the expansion, which is expected to take 10 years to complete.

Not attending the ceremony were two top-level leaders, Secretary General of the Organization of American States, Eduardo Lora, and Secretary General of the Organization of American States, Eduardo Lora.

The project, which will build a third set of locks on the Atlantic and Pacific sides of the waterway, will ensure that today's super-size container ships, cruise liners and oil tankers—many of which are too large for the canal—will be able to traverse the waterway more easily.

The largest ships that now use the canal carry as many as 10,000 containers. But future expansion will allow the canal to carry as many as 12,000 containers at one time.

Moscoso's secretary said she will accompany the U.S. Secretary of Defense, Donald Rumsfeld, to the ceremony. She will also be accompanied by the U.S. Secretary of Defense, Donald Rumsfeld.

Construction started.

Schools and government offices were closed on Monday as Panamanians began the expansion project. The project will double the capacity of the 80-mile-long canal, built 1914-1915 by the United States, which relinquished control of the waterway to Panama in December 1999.

Meralco rates to go down this month

Utility says rates to decrease by 68.46 centavos per kWh

By Miguel L. Ho

LOWEST PURCHASED POWER cost and steady fuel charges will lead to a reduction in the state-owned electric Co. charges in October this month.

The rate would go down by as much as 68.46 centavos per kilowatt-hour (kWh), Meralco said.

According to data from the electric utility's generation department, the rate for the month of September would be pegged at P4.6542 per kWh, or 26 centavos per kWh lower than the P4.3257 per kWh charged in August.

The reduction in Meralco's generation charge was a result of lower purchased power costs from its power suppliers, which included the National Power Corp., the wholesale electricity spot market, and independent power producers First Gen Power Corp. and Chiriqui River Philippines Ltd. Cost of power sourced from Nippon dropped to P5.1109 per kWh in September, as compared with P5.1867 per kWh last month. Power sourced from NIPON also went down from P5.0060 per kWh in August to P5.1287 per kWh this month.

Nippon's 500-mw power plant in Luzon is expected to generate 1,000,000 kilowatt-hours this month, while those coming from NIPON will reach approximately 200,000 kilowatt-hours a month.

Meralco's commercial and industrial customers would likewise experience a significant reduction in their electricity bills, the levels for which it said it did not specify.

Lower fuel costs also played a role in the rate cut. The cost of coal for the month of September was P2.7400 per kWh, or 16 centavos per kWh lower than the P2.9000 per kWh in August.

For Meralco and its 20% affiliate, the rate would be P4.3257 per kWh, or 16 centavos per kWh lower than the P4.4857 per kWh in August.

For the month of September, the rate for the month of September would be pegged at P4.6542 per kWh, or 26 centavos per kWh lower than the P4.3257 per kWh charged in August.

A mini-Marshall plan

By Miguel L. Ho

THE U.S. GOVERNMENT is running out of original ideas. On the heels of the ongoing military offensive in Iraq and Libya against the al-Qaida, the U.S. is now planning a mini-Marshall plan for the Middle East in Mexico.

Gen. George J. Marshall was the chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff during World War II and President Truman's most trusted military adviser. After the war, President Truman appointed Marshall to head the economic recovery of Europe.

The U.S. came out of the war as the richest and most powerful nation in history. Marshall got the U.S. Congress to approve a plan, authorized by the Marshall Plan—U.S. aid to Europe. THE PHILIPPINE ELECTRICITY MARKET Corp., operator of the wholesale electricity spot market, will appeal an Energy Regulatory Commission ruling that it can potentially lower its power rates by as much as P2.00 per kilowatt-hour (kWh).

The ERC order in question effectively reduced NEMO's original high settlement prices for September and October last year.

The ERC ruling initially nullified the NEMO board's decision to reduce the price for the two months, after it marked a record low in electricity demand and power prices.

Stick to trade rules, DTI cautions crab exporters

By Samuel W. Domingo

THE DEPARTMENT OF TRADE AND INDUSTRY (DTI) cautions crab exporters to adhere to the country's strict rules for shipments to maintain access to its home market.

According to DTI data, exporters were able to post P100 million in earnings in the first four months, after DTI helped its companies lose of export from the Philippines.

In December 2006, Taiwanese authorities informed the DTI's Bureau of Export Trade Promotion that it was supplying exports from the Philippines because of the outbreak of avian influenza—an infectious disease that is banned for fishery and aquaculture exports—was found in some provinces.

T-bond yield up to 8.59%

Investors still worried over US credit woes

By Michael V. Romo

THE YIELD ON THE GOVERNMENT'S 30-year treasury bonds went up slightly yesterday, evidence that investors were still spooked by credit defaults in the US subprime market.

The yield on the 30-year bonds for 8.59 percent, up 50.8 basis points from the 8 percent recorded during the last session in November last year.

Analysts said widespread credit defaults by US borrowers with spotty credit histories had led to some risk aversion toward investments in emerging economies like the Philippines, because bank sectors have the same credit rating.

Investment banks were partly smelted last week, however, when Standard & Poor's announced investors to await a full-scale mortgage crisis.

The House of the Treasury's auction committee accepted P5-025 billion worth of bids, short of the government's original target of P7 billion.

Finance Undersecretary Robert Tan said after the auction, joking that the government did not win the entire P7 billion because of the high bids.

Had the auction committee raised the bid P7 billion, the yield on the 30-year bonds would have reached 8.75 percent.

"We don't need cash for now and so we can live with it (lower than planned) auction raised four years ago's context," Tan said.

There was considerable appetite for the 30-year bonds, with orders reaching P12.347 billion.

Besides the volatile financial market, the higher yield on government securities was also attributed to competing investments.

The Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas opened last May a bidding system wherein trust depositors of banks may directly deposit funds to the BSP at yields higher than those on government securities.

The encouraged government-owned and -operated to deposit more of their funds to the central bank.

Since no government securities, however, have been issued since the second quarter of the year after posting historic losses last year.

Automatic collection in the first half was also blamed for the rise in interest rates, as this reduced borrowing over the government's ability to reduce its budget deficit this year.

But the Department of Finance earlier reported that the government's revenue collection partially recovered in July with both the Bureau of Internal Revenue and Bureau of Customs hitting their collection targets.

The government has set a goal of limiting the deficit to P63 billion this year from last year's P64.8 billion, and lowering it further by next year.

THE DOMINANCE OF THE University of Santo Tomas Saling-gang Dance Troupe (USTT) in the 1960s (choirhouse parties has been so common to the group's repertoire) means, during times and sometimes even outside of themselves.

But there is one more vital ingredient in the success of the multi-talented USTT Yellow Jackets.

Taking the name of a kind of stage from black America known for their wit and black sense, dead-end king and the dancing sound they create, the USTT Yellow Jackets bring into the University student Association of the Philippines (USAP) the intensity and pulsating drum beats that inject extra energy to USTT's moves.

"Through these songs are small, they still make loud noise," says Yellow Jacket-president John Ivan Rosendo Regala. The group, founded in the UST Tuguegarao in the mid-'60s, and was later recognized by the university as the Yellow Jackets in 1981.

"An accomplishment that USTT. They've tried on their own because of their dancing and academic skills, but their performance may still seem incomplete if they don't put on one of our drumbeats," adds Regala.

A month before the actual shooting competition, Regala says USTT choreographer Rina Iñigo gave them the final music sequence for their performance.

"They gave it to us how we put the beats in their performance. We practice together two weeks before competition."

The Yellow Jackets are also behind the catchy songs of "Go Home," "No Delusion," and many others.

"We challenge ourselves to come up with something original all the time," says Regala. The group's original pieces are originality that which some members tend to do in a way less than the San Beda who are claiming the "Nation" show in their, they looked into the drums. When they found out that the drummed beats, the Yellow Jackets immediately decided to do it.

Remembering a musical note in their singing the crowd through their drum beats and cheer, especially when the USTT Browling Tigers are trailing in a match time, the group can now be said to be the crowd from becoming noisy.

No choregrapher

During the half-time of the first meeting between UST and Ateneo, the Blue Devils' formation inadvertently performed one of the five minutes time limit allowed for each squad. The Yellow Jackets were somewhat interrupted by the Ateneo's performance during the final minutes, which disrupted the Ateneo's score.

"We did not mean to disrupt Ateneo. We just saw that a group of people were leaving and jumping UST's crowd number professor Roldan Ramos when they passed by them. We don't want that to be a cause of this like the only one nearby one is NCAA (National Collegiate Athletic Association), so we felt the need to avoid the anger of the crowd who seemed to rise in the air by leaving," explains Regala.

"In talking personal, we understand them. There's a lot in it. It's a matter of school pride for them so we don't risk it personally. We're the UST Yellow Jackets and we're committed to rally the entire Thomsonian community behind the little defense of both the Saling-gang Dance Troupe and the Browling Tigers."

Question

I read that you need to drink eight glasses of water every day; do soft drinks also help keep your body hydrated?

Answer

Yes, carbonated soft drinks can help quench your thirst and provide your body with its daily liquid for proper hydration. Hydration is critical in helping to maintain normal body temperature and for every physiological function and action by your body and brain. People can also get liquids from juice, milk, coffee, tea, wine, vegetables and other foods and beverages. Even beverages with caffeine, like coffee and cola drinks, can help keep you hydrated. Besides basic hydration, carbonated soft drinks can also provide carbohydrates that can supply energy necessary for daily activities. For most people, about 88 percent of total liquids each day come from drinking water and beverages; the other 12 percent of liquids come from food.

An extensive review by the National Academy of Science's Institute of Medicine determined that all beverages and foods can help keep you hydrated. It found that most people can meet their daily fluid needs through normal drinking behavior behaviors at meals, snacks and in other social situations and by drinking when they are thirsty. People who are physically active or who live in hot climates may need to consume more fluids.

MOXY UNIVERSITY TEAMS ARE dependent on student donations and the occasional corporate sponsorship. While this is not necessarily a bad way to fund for sports teams, there's always the fear of having no money around for money when the season starts out.

Paired with this dilemma, MUA's Halikins, team manager of the Blue Eagles (University's high school basketball team), decided to do something new.

"Halikins Radio was created in 2004," Halikins says. "It was primarily designed to raise a small additional amount of funds for several varsity teams in the Union. As opposed to the tradition of exclusively approaching private donors for donations, we believed in starting a sustainable media project that would create funds through corporate sponsorships built on legitimate radio values."

Halikins Radio is a combination rock-radio and sports initiative that aims to showcase the different talents of Ateneo de Manila University students, in a program that features major concert events as well as daily segments on radio station NU 107.

"Musicians, athletes, graphic artists and event organizers are support for our events and programs," Halikins says. "But what makes us special is that our success is sustainable, as opposed to simply tapping the Ateneo students."

"Halikins Radio is open to interesting talent when it comes to radio production, content, event management and corporate marketing."

Halikins' events include the Big Blue Eagle concert rally (held yearly to raise support for the school), as well as a concert series and a radio festival where popular bands such as Rivermaya, Savage, Tala, Kaya, Kapamilya, Dava University, Chinoist, and Chordel, among others, play for the benefit of the Blue Eagles.

The NU 107 segment, on the other hand, focuses on the large bands from the Union and live sports updates about the school teams.

The Campus, Christ Coman, and East Monahan, NU 107's official student correspondents, interview coaches and players and deliver game reports, highlights, and post-game radio reports from the game scenes. For NU 107 during weekends.

"The strength of Halikins Radio is its ability to help all from members of the Ateneo community all at the same time," says Halikins. "By providing radio support and staging events with student organizations in the Ateneo, Halikins Radio is able to raise funds that assist the Ateneo UMF students' basketball team."

Halikins Radio is also able to help all from members of the Ateneo community all at the same time, says Halikins. "By providing radio support and staging events with student organizations in the Ateneo, Halikins Radio is able to raise funds that assist the Ateneo UMF students' basketball team."

"It's a more sustainable approach to raising and managing funds," he says. "We intend to keep up a year-long campaign which involves more events and perhaps get more coverage for other teams, varsity teams. But we're not content to be just a radio station."

Pooches at play

FOR LESLIE AND KAREN ARMSTRONG AND JO-AN RANGAS, making jerseys for dogs was a simple matter of combining their interests. They had all been members on Ateneo College's varsity basketball team, and all had dogs of their own, which they loved dressing in all sorts of outfits.

However, the group wasn't happy with the media available on dog specialty stores. Finding them overly silly and raring the athletes decided to make out with their own line of clothing for dogs that reflected their personalities.

Also, Armans and Rangas decided to pursue with college friends (Lies and Jo-An) and come up with Pooches, a line of clothes designed to help dogs (from the typical little white dog to an usually associated with small dog, the group produced a line of jerseys suitable for more or less dogs and their owners.

"We don't like the designs we see in the stores," Ali said. "We are looking to produce our own stuff, and jerseys were a natural choice since we had all played basketball together."

As for them, they don't have all the UMF stuff jerseys.

Admittedly, in a personal line, the group has jerseys in the official colors of Ateneo College, and of University of the Philippines, Ateneo de Manila University, De La Salle University, and JOY FRAMCRO—SOME OF the biggest musical stars of the 1960s counterculture gathered here on Sunday for a concert to celebrate the 40th anniversary of the Summer of Love, an event that many recall with disappointment about the era's political and social climate.

The Summer of Love of 1967 made San Francisco a magnet for youth who wanted to experiment with sex, drugs, rock and roll and the hippie lifestyle.

"We thought, 'What if we're going to change the world, and we're going to be the Summer of Love,'" Joy Framcro, 48, began her story for The Times, told by her "OK, of course, it didn't happen."

The January 1967 "Human Be-Be" was credited with showing counterculture to the city.

The "OK" lived up to its name, however. "Of course, it didn't happen."
